

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, June 9. 1716.

London, May 27.

We are very impatient to learn how it will go at the Porte, the Emperor having given a further Term, to the 6th Instant, for the Sultan to declare definitely his intention of Peace or War. For although his Imperial Majesty expected that Religion to be at Belgrade by the 5th, it was not come on the 17th, nor Mr. Fleischman, who had his Orders to be there that day, in case the Turkish contious to decline the following Propositions, viz. 1. Peace with the Venetians. 2. Restitution of the Mores. The Samburk being of all the Changes the Empour has been at, in making Maximilian, and in raising 7 Regiments of Foot; and upon the Naval Armanent on the Doube. But it being no doubt that M. Fleischman is detained, the Imperialists have taken a Post upon the Sava, which is the ancient Siemum, and is now called Novitz. It seems by these Propostions which the Empour has caused to be made to the Grand Seignior that the Imperial Court, far from being afraid of the Turks, promises itself great Adventures over them, in Case of a Rupture. The Prince Nuncio who is here, has caused to be Printed and Published an Ordinance, whereby all the Clergy, High and Low, as also all Officers, are enjoined to pay a Tenth of all their Estates, for the War against the Turks.

London, June 9.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland. From the Hague Courant, dated June 2. The General Count Wackerbarth has received Advice by Express, that the Russians have intirely defeated the Confederates near Lemberg, and killed a great Number, among whom were several Noblemen; of which Action we long for the Particulars. The Lodges for a Treaty of Peace, which was appointed for Jaroslaw, is now fixed for Lublin, and will be opened on the 22d of this Month. 'Tis still reported that the Empour will send a Minister to it, to perform the Office of Mediator.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 16.

Venice, June 3. The Departure of Prince Eugene for Hungary, is put off to the 12th or 15th of this Month; expecting first, as 'tis said, the return of the Express sent from London to Constantinople. The Departure of the Marquis de Brissac for the Netherlands, is fixed for next Week. We have a Report here, that the Pope has given the Chevalier de St. George a Pention of 5000 Ducats, and that he is to command the Troops of the Holy See against the Turks.

From the Hague Courant, dated June 17.

Elsinore, June 9: Two Days ago Admiral Norre arrived in the Sound with 21 Men of War and Frigates from England, and about 40 Merchantmen. And this Morning arrived also 3 Russian Men of War of 50 to 60 Guns, 3 wherof have been brought in England, and 3 at Elekkoren. These last will sail directly for Copenhagen, but the British Squadron will wait in the Sound for the Dutch Ships from the Texel.

Hamburg, June 12. The Czar of Muscovy arrived the 6th Instant at Pyrmont, and took up his Lodging at Doctor Scippen's. The 7th he went to take a View of the Fountaines, and will in a few Days begin to make use of them. The Guards of that Prince, were the 4th Infantry in the Haven of Colberg, and on the 9th sailed to the Swindland Wilmar. The Troops of that Nation, to the Number of 18000, marched the 8th through Sardinia, to the Duchy of Mecklenberg.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 16.

Hamburg, June 12. We have no Letters from Norway by the two last Spanish Posts: But Captain Verck, who is arrived in the Sound from thence, with four Merchant ships, reports, that Vice-Admiral Gabel has block'd up the Swedish Transport ships with Provisions and Ammunition, and that the Swedes are thereby hindered from formally besieging Fredericksborg. The Danes lie but half a League from thence, but the Danes have in full a Communication by Water, that the Place is effectually open. According to the former Report of this Captain, the Swedish Army there consists of but 8000 Foot, and 4500 Horse under the Generals Monier and Heiwig. They write from Copenhagen, that the Flotilla that was in Fornania, and the Praams that were used in the siege of Stralsund and Rügen, are lately arrived there; and that the Swedish Fleet lie under Falster, to take the Ships that pass to Copenhagen. Some Letters from Copenhagen say, that Vice-Admiral Gabel has had an Engagement with a great Part of the Gottemberg Swedish Squadron, and will come off with Honour; but that his Corp was very much shattered: And that after the Action, he returned to his Post.

Hanover, June 9. Yesterday Morning the Bishop of Osnabrug departed from hence, to go to his Diocese, to the great Grief of this City, especially the Poor, to whom he was very Charitable.

Hamburg, June 10. Yesterday in the Afternoon our Lord Bishop arrived in this City. The Chapter of the Cathedral Church sent immediately to understand what Hour would be convenient to his Highness for them to wait upon him welcome, when having nevertheless refused to call him because he is a Protestant, they have not been admitted to audience. The other States of the Land have welcomed his Highness, were graciously received, and this Day they have been magnificently entertained at Dinner by his Highness.

France, June 11. Last Sunday at Noon, the King of Prussia unexpectedly, and unknown, arrived here, with a Retinue of 9 Persons. He took up his Quarters at the Red House, and that Day kept within; but on Monday he went with one Servant through the City, and viewed what was remarkable, without being known. His Majesty went afterwards to the House of his Resident, who came hither a Week before, thence went to his Lodging, and having Dined there in the Garden, he went alone through the City towards the Mayne, inquiring the nearest Way thither; and being come to the River, he found his People, who waited for him with a Yacht, into which they all went, and departed, bidding the People that were on the Shoar, and knew him not, Adieu.

From the Hague Courant, dated June 17.

Cleve, June 13. Yesterday Morning at Eight a Clock, the King of Prussia came very unexpectedly to Wesel: Unknown how long his Majesty will stay there, or whether he will come hither.
